

PMT (GB) Limited - Are Still Here To Support You

During these unprecedented times we want to assure you that PMT (GB) Ltd maintains complete continuity of its business operations and can fully support you.

We know many of our customers depend on the continued availability of our products and services.

We are concerned about the health and well-being of our families, co-workers and customers during this time and we are following all Government guidelines and monitoring the situation as it changes day to day.

PMT (GB) Ltd is ready to support you to ensure that you can maintain vital equipment that is fully calibrated and serviced, providing you with the peace of mind and confidence in your instrumentation.

Our sales team are available to help support your needs– via virtual meetings, phone, email and if required, well managed visits as long as they are in line with government guidelines.

Our service engineers continue to provide calibration services at your site, or in our facilities for Particle Counter and Air Sampler calibration and service.

For support, please contact us on:
